

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT ASHEVILLE
FACULTY SENATE

Senate Document Number 8714S
Date of Senate Approval 5/01/14

Statement of Faculty Senate Action:

APC Document 74 Addition of two courses to the Legal Studies Interdisciplinary Minor

Effective Date: Fall 2014

1. Add: On page 189, in the “nature of law in society” listing, after POLS 235:

PSYC 343 Psychology and Law (4)

2. Add: On page 189, in the broader electives listing, after PHIL 214:

POLS 331 Immigration and Refugee Law and Policy (3)

Impact: As both of these courses are currently being taught regularly in their respective departments, no impact is expected other than the addition of a small number of students wishing to enroll. The regular instructors of both courses asked that their courses be included in the minor. Concurrences have been obtained from both departments.

Rationale: The Legal Studies minor attempts to stay current with course offerings in all departments that are appropriate to its purposes. Consequently, when new courses are developed the Minor adds them to its listings in order to maintain a broad offering of courses and to ensure availability of courses in each of its groupings so that students can complete the minor easily.
