Delete HIST 330, World War II

Effective Date: Fall 2016

1. Delete: On page 168, the entry for HIST 330:

330 World War II (4)

A survey of the military, political, economic and social aspects of the war in Europe, Africa and Asia. Includes coverage of the rise of fascist ideology, the role of modernity in the prosecution of the war, and the implications of forces unleashed by the war including nuclear warfare, the rise of the Soviet Union, and decolonization. See department chair.

Impact: This deletes a course from our World offerings, but the addition of an African history course and a genocide history course increases the number of offerings.

Rationale: This elective course was taught by retired faculty member and WWII history will be covered in other courses (331 and 369).
